

25 August 2009

To whom it may concern

From April – August 2009 we employed Rory Gordon of Good London Builders to project manage the refurbishment of a 3 bedroom house in Notting Hill. Rory did a first class job in all respects, from running the competitive quote process efficiently to pacifying the neighbours over any small issues.

All of the work was completed on time and the finish and attention to detail were excellent. Good London Builder's system of emailing photographs of progress on a daily basis makes sure you are in touch at all times and decisions on changes can be made instantly, so saving time and money.

The team also propose solutions for materials and finishes so that you don't have to go marching around the shops for inspiration and to pick things up – they order it direct, obtain discounts that they pass on and get it delivered.

I would strongly recommend Rory to anyone considering such a project.

Simon Mackenzie-Smith
Head of UK & Ireland Corporate and Investment Banking