To whom it may concern,

We were given Good London Builders' details by some friends who had had a large project delivered by them. It was reassuring that they had delivered so well previously and after our own experience we would wholeheartedly recommend their offering and delivery to anyone who is looking to do any kind of building work.

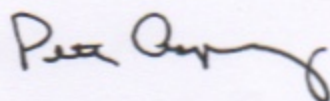

From the onset it was clear that Rory and his team were going to deliver well for us. Their proactive approach, their drive and their good advice were such that it made it really easy for us to get going on the project. I have no doubt that we'd still be sitting in our old kitchen trying to find the impetus to redo it and feeling directionless as to how best to proceed if it hadn't been for them.

We have a large and busy family so found the project management offering extremely helpful. All three of the builders that Rory recommended for the job were impressive and the strong relationship he had with them all was reassuring. The integrity of the build team was evident when they passed on a significant cost saving after identifying that much less steel work was required compared to what we originally thought.

The finished product looks stunning and it has completely exceeded our expectations. The result is in large part down to Rory's drive, direction, responsiveness and invaluable advice throughout the project. It was a pleasure working with his business.

We are really pleased to be able to recommend Good London Builders.

Best regards,
